

Camp Director Tony Vittorio

Since taking over as head coach in 2000, Tony Vittorio has raised the standards for Dayton baseball. In his tenure at UD, Vittorio has led the Flyers to six 30-plus-win seasons and its five appearances in the Atlantic 10 Tournament including a record breaking season in 2009 when the Flyers captured their first-ever Atlantic 10 regular season baseball championship.

Vittorio has helped coach five Major League Baseball draft picks since 2002. The latest being Jerry Blevins who made his major league debut with the Oakland A's in 2007, Craig Stammen, who earned his first start with the Washington Nationals in May and New York Yankees draft pick Luke Trubee.

Last season, Vittorio led the Flyers to a program record 38 wins. He also eclipsed the 500 career win mark in a 5-3 win against Fordham. Vittorio has led Dayton to consecutive 32-win seasons in 2001 and 2002 as UD made its first-ever berths in the A-10 Tournament. In 2005, the Flyers took two of three games against #19 Notre Dame en route to a then-school-record 36 win campaign, which concluded with a berth to the A-10 Tournament at Fifth Third Field.

A native of Indianapolis, Vittorio graduated from Hanover (IN) College in 1988 with a double major in both business administration and physical education. He went on to earn his master's degree in sports management from the University of Kentucky in 1997. At Hanover, Vittorio was a four-year letterwinner as a middle infielder and was selected to the American College Hall of Fame at the conclusion of his collegiate career.
